Membership Application

Southern California Railway Plaza Association (SCRPA) is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) educational corporation dedicated to promoting public appreciation and awareness of Southern California’s rich rail history through the opening of the Fullerton Train Museum.

SCRPA’s focus is educating area youth about rail heritage, restoration and public display of significant railroad equipment, organizing and producing rail fairs, and a long-range goal of creating a first-class railroad attraction at the Train Depot in downtown Fullerton, California.

CABOOSE COLLECTION

The SCRPA’s caboose collection represents all three major Class 1 railroads that served Southern California in the mid-20th century. Conservation and ongoing maintenance of the cabooses is under the guiding hand of the SCRPA’s Railroad Operations Committee (ROC).

VINTAGE LOUNGE CARS

SCRPA’s Union Pacific Lunch Counter-Diner-Lounge car 5001 and Union Pacific Dormitory-Lounge 6101 arrived at the Fullerton station in April 2016 and debuted at Railroad Days 2016 in Fullerton. Built by ACF Industries and delivered to the Union Pacific in December 1949, both passenger lounge cars are undergoing conservation to their condition when in service on Union Pacific’s streamlined passenger trains, notably the Portland Rose and the City of St. Louis. Both were retired and stricken from Union Pacific’s roster prior to creation of the National Railroad Passenger Corp. (AMTRAK) in 1971.
